

KARMA

Tonight we will talk a little about the law of karma.

Much has been said about this law and how it affects us, especially in today's new age movement. Actually it would be more accurate to ask how we affect ourselves via the law of karma.

As the law of karma like all great laws is impartial but fair.

Have you ever wondered why some things just don't work out right.
Or why we find ourselves in the peculiar position in life that we are?

Karma of course is not just a personal thing either. As there are family, racial, national, and even planetary karmas.

It is the law of cause and effect.
For every cause there is an effect.
And for every effect there is a cause.

We carry our karma's in our genetic makeup.
So as the ego's build up their positions within us they work so thoroughly into the human organism.
The genes and chromosomes. The very foundation of the physical form.
That these disorders, which stem from the ego's, can become apparent in hereditary diseases etc.
The ego being the cause, and, the disease or disfigurement being the effect.
Also we will see that certain groups of lineages etc will carry certain negative "mindsets" that attract the law of karma, or, have been effected by the law or karma.

At this point we will see with ample clarity how important it is to reduce these ego's to cosmic dust.

For example a thief in a past life may well still be a thief but will fall prey to a thief nonetheless.

Or a murderer may well be the victim of a murder in the present life. Even if he has this time round, decided to turn over a new leaf for whatever reason.

That debt is still there and will recur till it is paid, in some fashion.

People with dreadful histories will come back into the wheel again carrying some kind of deformity to make them suffer.

As we said before, this may be of the mental / ego variety. Or physical.

Or a combination of them both.

Hence, we can see this desire of a flawless beauty. the desire to be a part of an attractive gene pool is deep seated in the human psyche.

As it "could" be an indicator of the work that has been carried out with the alchemy and the eradication of the "I's".

But such a desire can of course lead to the advancement of certain ego's such as arrogance, which can lead to cruelty etc, instead of being an indicator of the "unfurling of the golden embryo". The liberating of the being from the tyranny of the obfuscating ego's.

The golden embryo being the consciousness, or, the true being.

Our lives are a direct result of the net results of past actions in previous lives.

Now, there is a difference here between a past life, or an incarnation, and a reincarnation.

A past life belongs to the law of recurrence, which we will talk about in a little more detail later on. It is purely mechanical and ends in involutions.

A being reincarnates voluntarily with a certain amount of consciousness.

Or as we say "the golden embryo"

Which is the liberated essence.

There will be more about these particular points in the next lecture, as they are complementary to what we are saying in respect to the law of karma.

Liberated from what? you may ask!

The ego's that drag us back into the cycles of samsara. The wheel of existence.

The lower "baser" aggregates.

You will recognise these through reflection and self-observation.

Generally they are things that we would not be too proud of if we were to be honest with ourselves.

Especially as we see how they affect those around us and do not contribute in a positive fashion to the state of the world and hence the cosmos. Then down of course to ourselves as a single human.

So we can see that it is definitely in our best interests to work with this law and understand how it works.

These beings that reincarnate are at the stage that we call bodhisattva. They have liberated enough of their consciousness from the ego's to be able to return to earth and choose the circumstances.

Like for example, their social status and the possibilities that go with them.

Presumably these beings do this to somehow contribute positively to the position of man.

But they are still governed by the law of karma.

Which means that they still have work to do with the ego's.

They may even be no more conscious than ourselves at the present point in time. Only a master has total consciousness to work with.

As they have not paid all their debts.

Even in the higher dimensions that it is possible to gain access to it is still possible to have karmic debt. If your positive actions are outweighed by negative actions.

So we can see here that the process that we are referring to is actually just another tool for us to utilize in our revolutionary evolution. That's all it is.

Again I will stress that you can evolve into higher dimensions and gain great faculties like clairvoyance and astral travel etc, but, still have a karmic debt to pay.

So how do we pay this karmic debt?

By good actions.

A good action is basically anything in its place as opposed to that which is not.

Which means that we have to be self-aware to work in such a fashion.

We have to be conscious of our being.

Conscious of the role man should be playing.

So we could do something like just listening to other people for a start. Which will have many good repercussions for ourselves, like helping us to understand someone's position and how we can maybe assist them , even if in an indirect manner . which should in turn help us in the identification and eradication of the ego's.

By giving us an understanding of how the ego's work, and reflecting on that. We should be able to catch them as they appear and slowly eradicate them.

Leaving ourselves that little bit more conscious as we go.

Or we could generally look out for other people's interests and slow down a bit just to treat others humanely.

We could work in animal welfare.

Or help the homeless.

Or spend time with the elderly etc.

Or perhaps more importantly, work on ourselves.

Somehow give to society in whatever way we can.

Live our potential .

Karma is the law of balance.

It is not really to be looked at as a punishment, as a lot of people do these days.

But an integral part of the process to help us achieve thoroughly this great revolution of consciousness.

Of course there is such a thing as good karma too, which can help us out if we do make a bit of a boo boo here and there.

So there is a certain amount of leniency to this law.

But rest assured any negative karma will have to be dealt with, and, any good karma will undoubtedly run out at some point. Where we will have to again face the ego's.

We can also negate karma if we are truly sincere and show to the depths of our 49 layers of consciousness, of the being, that we truly understand the lessons that have been put before us, and , the errors that we have encountered.

So really it's not such a bad deal at all.

Justice is all it is.

Nothing more nothing less.

Quite superior to what we call justice in the world at present.

As there is no hidden agenda, save that of a true liberation for the worthy. Those who are sincere and work at it.
